As we enter the summer months, we encourage all families to make time to engage in educational/academic activities. The research on the ‘summer slide’ is real and impactful for nearly all children.... this is especially true for the elementary age, and students who struggle academically. Students should be reading daily, and there are many area educational opportunities through local libraries, museums, ISDs and colleges /universities available for your consideration. Make a point to do something educational with the family this summer..... be creative and have fun!
